I would like to express my opinion about microsoft-THEY ARE A MONOPOLY!

If I had another option besides windows I would definitely have taken advantage of it. Their product is poor and their support is terrible-I have never encountered such rude and arrogant behavior from a "service" entity in my life. When I purchased my computer it came preloaded with windows XP, an untested and microsoft-slanted product that has further entrenched their monopolistic powers. The government's proposed "settlement" is a travesty of justice, and makes me wonder how much compensation the anti-trust division received for it's condoning of anti-competitive behavior. Microsoft will never change on it's own, and therefore real action MUST be taken-or the justice department will simply be another competitor that bows it's head in defeat. Get more from the Web.
